Administration . . . BOOK I

Reflecting memories find here the guiding spirit of the surging student body; the cooperative attitude that broadens the vivacity of youth.

Classes . . . . . BOOK II

"The center of the educational system;" reminiscing memories marvel at advances made from the green Freshman to the polished Senior.

Organization . . . . . BOOK III

Passifying are the reflections of the extra curricular phases of the campus life, memories glide over the incidents of these brotherly contacts.

Activities . . . . . BOOK IV

Reminiscing of the Junior Prom, the Sophomore Loan Fund Ball, the Snow Carnival, and Lover's Lane flood tender memories through our minds again.

Athletics . . . . . BOOK V

Living again the battles of the gridiron, the basketball court, the tennis court, and the cinder track is the reminiscing desire of many who recall those exciting shadows of the past.

Administration

We've loved them sincerely and deeply, and we've sworn softly at them beneath our breaths. We've praised them as inspirational leaders and teachers only to pout the next day over their stiff exams, gargantuan assignments, and administrative ultimatums. We've laughed at their jokes, good and bad, and even attempted to make our apple polishing so smooth as to be unrecognizable. But, through blue days and bright, our intimate and friendly associations with those who guide us have ever served as the traditionally solid foundation upon which we have built the friendships, activities, achievements, and inspirations that have accumulated and blended with each other to form the past year.

CAMPUS

"Let others tell of storm and showers . . .
I'll only mark your sunny hours" . . . The motto on the upper campus sundial, but the true motto for the entire campus, for the vivid remembrances of hallways, shady paths, hoary vines, and rooms and buildings venerated by the presence of a prof or that "certain one" is to recall the sunniest hours of life. To those who have lived vigorously and joyously—to those who love the Y and her campus, "Earth hath not anything to show more fair . . ."

CAMPUS VIEWS

DEEP SHADOWS

mold the form of the lovely old vine-encrusted Educational Building.

THE AZTEC FOUNTAIN

rich in memories of traditional splendor.

FACULTY

"A friend in need . . .". Under just such a relationship are the life-long bonds between Y students and faculty members forged. By living the good life and living it whole, and by outstanding scholarly achievement, the faculty is well prepared to aid students in moulding their lives. Differing only in age, the number of grey hairs, and the length of their belts, teachers and students constantly bump heads and knees as they exchange friendships and ideas and bits of advice across the table-tops during those memorable Y years.

HEBER J. GRANT . . . . .divinely-inspired President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints . . . . .keynotes his charatcer by a fearless, uncompromising allegiance to truth . . . . .offers Brigham Young University's students unlimited inspiration in their seeking paths of knowledge . . . . .has distinguished himself, beyond his supreme ability as a sagacious leader of the Church, in the banking and financial circles of the nation . . . . .has been for years a world commuter . . . . .draws the praise and appreciation of Young U students for his words of inspiration, his nobility of character, his persistency of purpose . . . .

FRANKLIN S. HARRIS

... energetic executive, distinguished leader, friendly counselor ...
... attained a deserved distinction as President of Brigham Young University, directing its affairs through ... a long period of continuous cultural and physical growth ... typifies his sympathetic cheerfulness by
... his friendly greeting and warm handclasp ... inspires advice-seeking students with his keen words of coun... sel ... manifests his great abilities by his marked success ...

DR. FRANKLIN L. WEST . . . . . the vital connecting link between the Latter-day Saint Church and Young U students . . . has proved himself ideally qualified as Church Commissioner of Education by his efficient supervision of the L. D. S. school system . . . belies, by a quiet, unassuming manner, the tremendous force with which he accomplishes his tasks . . .

KEIFER B. SAULS AND JOHN E. HAYES . . . . . official purchasing agent - secretary to the President and registrar, respectively . . . hold key positions in the University administration, the latter being reputed to know every student and to never forget a face . . . nonchalantly solve apparently impossible tangles of administrative complexities . . . continually elicit by their efficiency praise from faculty and student body . . .

DEAN OF WOMEN

NETTIE NEFF SMART

... companion to the coeds of the university ...
 lights in mothering "her girls" ... finds her way, always pleasant and genial, into t lives and advises them on the perplexing problems of youth ... supervises the Associ Women Students organization and yet allots time for infinite care of her new home ... left, one son on a mission to New England, with only Neff to sample her favorite salads new dishes ... truly becomes the Y girls' consultant and temporary mother ...

A. A. Anderson: though mild-mannered, superintended largest canning plant in county n not teaching religious education . . . . D. Eldon Beck: deserted Dixie Junior College this to join Dr. Tanner's staff . . . . William H. Boyle: regretfully issued his pink slips; with omary quiet efficiency rode moral herd on student body, culling "tainted wethers of the k" . . . . Thomas L. Broadbent: captivated more than ever his "frauliens"; kept intact his orial reputation . . . .

The faculty—at work and at play. Just to prove that they're not always staid and stolid here's Dr. T. Earl Pardoe (above) deciding whether to jump the fence or easier—go around. But imagine! There's Dean Nettie Neft Smart primping! Of all people—! And Dr. Lloyd is amused about something. Ed. M. Rowe says "LeGrande Lewis—Lewis are you here?" Then across the page, Pres. Harris congratulates an Invitational Meet winner. Upper right, Dean Jensen and Dr. Lambert confer on registration day. And what registration would be complete without John Freckleton attempting to talk Dr. Guy C. Wilson out of Religious Ed. registration. Inset, Dr. Martin expounds the mysteries of Bacteriology. Dr. Loren Bryner proudly shows off his Invitational Meet badge while the camera catches Chairman C. J. Hart at the "mike".

DREW LEONARD . . . . . A. S. B. Y. U. prexy, competent director of student affairs, outstanding athlete . . . is one of those lads who teams brains with brawn . . . excels in football and basketball . . . became campus heart-throb as A. W. S. King . . . was a campus favorite through his amiable personality . . .

Student Body Officers

ERMA SCHOW . . . . . lovely student vice-president . . . directed a year of outstanding assembly programs . . . became the suppressed desire of many a brave lad . . . will hear wedding bells in June—so lose no sleep comrades . . .

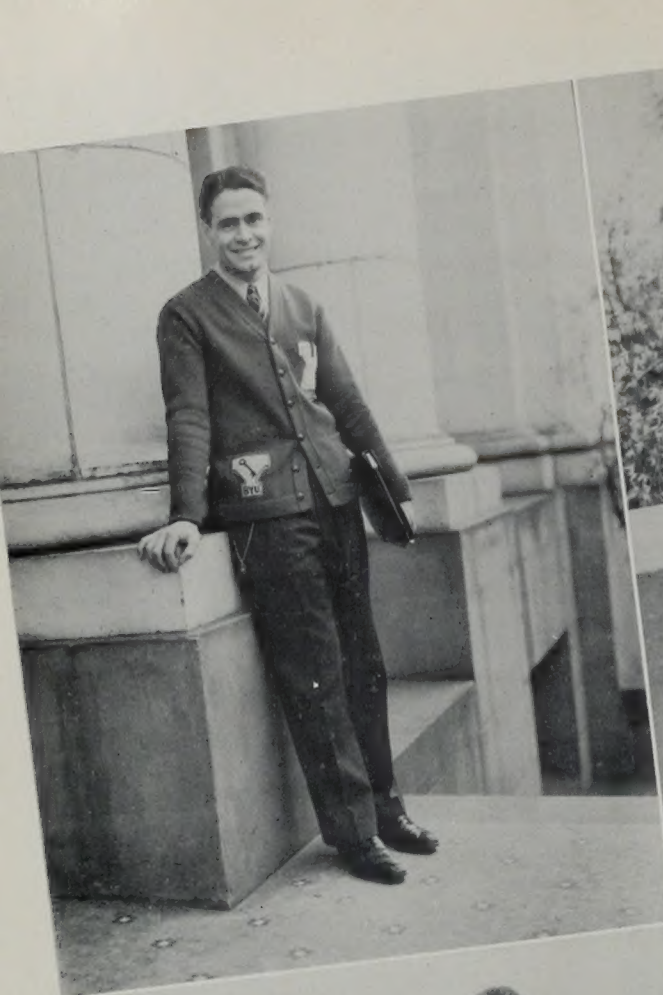

HELEN HOLBROOK . . . . . petite, active keeper-of-the-books . . . played custodian to this year's history . . . lost a little efficiency with the release of a certain "preacher of the Word"—looks interesting . . .

ED CLYDE . . . . . hard-working social chairman . . . has had an outstanding college career as debator and prom chairman . . . known commonly as "Mosquito" . . . is one of the best sheepherders at the university . . . completed requirements for graduation a quarter early . . .

Student Council

Personable, efficient and good looking, Prexy Drew Leonard made feminine hearts palpitate. Athlete, leader, and hard worker, his was a good job . . . Also soul's desire of the opposite sex, demure Erma Schow incited admiring "ah's" from the college hall audience when she conducted student assemblies. Arranger of good programs, they say her best sets a new standard at Young . . . Proving that dynamite comes in small packages, social chairman Ed Clyde packs a wallop as public speaker and politician. Engineered a year of intensified activity . . . Also subject to the dynamite adage, secretary-historian Helen Holbrook is one of Young's distinctive students. Rumor has it that her history of the '38-'39 year will be the archives' largest . . .

ent

Director of Public Service Bureau activities and married man, David Walker is second vice-president. Claims that there is nothing like marriage for a college man. Does Sonoma agree, Dave? . . . Peruser of books and scholar of no small reputation, Senior president Paul Boyer is a native of Provo. According to rumor, Boyer has two loves . . . Even the U. of U. student body emitted surprised sounds at Ben Lewis' stories. President of the haughty Juniors, Ben was master of ceremonies for the exchange programs sent to the northern schools . . . "Pax" for short, Monroe Paxnian plans to "preach the Word" for the next two years. Under his direction, Sophomores have sailed the calm sea of a "fun year" . . . Presiding officer of the greenlings, Garth Seegmiller found time to write poetry and play football. Came into his own in December to win favor as a prexy . . .

Public Service Bureau

With reputation as "best-sender-outer-of-programs" in years, director David Walker of the Public Service Bureau demonstrated rare executive ability. Took all-star programs on tours and inaugurated a regular weekly program at Utah State Hospital . . . "The better half" to director David Sonoma R. Walker performed the duties of a loyal wife. Helped send out reputation-gaining entertainments, washed his dishes and kept house for him in addition to going to her own classes. Dramatist, scholar, secretary—Leora Curtis took time to track down her share of talent for P. S. programs. Ex-missionary, she does her share of program participation besides finding others to represent the university . . .

Public Service Bureau

Personality plus, Bess Gearheart has little trouble talking campus talent into cooperation. Native of Montana, Bess says that she likes Utah but sometimes wonders about the congeniality of Brigham Young entertainers . . . Busy man, "sweet potato" player-upper, journalist, Dale DeGraff states that it is often more easy to be the program himself than to find campus performers. Spent his time at the student offices working on the Banyan, "Y" News and Public Service Bureau . . . Furriner, Marvin Smith came from Palmyra, New York to school at the "Y". Quiet, subtle wit; he banters talented entertainers into traveling for the P. S. B. . .

A.M.S.

Newest important organization on the campus, the Associated Men Students of the "Y" was nurtured into prominence by a capable personnel. Willie Stevens, heart-throb of many a campus coed was chairman of the executive council composed of Forest "Tweet" Bird and Twain Tippetts.

Captain of Young's best football team, "Tweet" found time to take care of A. M. S. duties and be chairman of "Y" day. Rumor has it that under him more duckings were perpetrated than the old school has seen in many a day. Twain is an orator deluxe—a speaker in demand. Yes, good men.

A.W.S.

Demure, personable, attractive, Connie Kelly led the A. W. S. by example. Leader and organizer, she displayed the ability to "get things done". In A. W. S. Preference Ball and Girls' Day, the coeds reigned the campus and prexy Kelly supervised unusual assemblies and outstanding dances. From Provo came Dorothy McGuire, vice president and chief aide to Connie. Hard-working and efficient, she helped arrange coed fetes. Maxine Turner, blond and conscientious, was the secretary of the organization. Personality plus, Lyle Evans had charge of recreational programs as the recreational leader of A. W. S. No other term than "banner year" could adequately describe the activities of the organization under these leaders.

As delicately green as the grass of spring, and as unstepped on, the Frosh conquer new worlds. They write home letters blustering with confidence and collegiate sophistry, not to mention their own stock questions "What's the "B" for in 110B?" and "Do I have to climb that hill in 10 minutes?" Then come the Sophs, proving that environment does work favorable changes: no high school medals worn—new sophistication. A Junior, and responsibility and worry of choosing a major, replacing theoretically the worry of filling groups. Finally after three years of elimination, behold! The sage Senior, torn 'twixt matrimony and parsimony, walking about in circles, muttering to himself 'neath cap and gown: "Today I am a man. Today I AM a man!" Then it's all over, to be recalled only by memories and yearbooks. It was too good to last.

SENIORS

..... At the end of the trail, or is it "trail"? Quite a shock to realize that college for you is in the past tense, isn't it? Ready to wave the sheepskin defiantly at the slammed doors of employment agencies, and to console yourself that you didn't want the job anyway? College memories all filed away, ready to be elaborated upon when being told to the grandchildren who will tie knots in your beard while you relive frosh hazings, initiations, touchdowns, dates, proms? ..... Graduation is already looking for a place to happen, and the place will let itself be found all too soon. But when eyes and hankies are dry again, remember that you owe Uncle Sam your income tax, and Neal Peterson your alumni dues. Just try to forget.

went to "paradise" with the

JUNIORS

Two well-worn years tucked away in Banyans and memories. At last, woe is me, no more procrastination in choosing the major. Upper division work is slightly different, but so is being a junior, with all the work and worry of bringing Timp Cave out of the clouds to the Women's Gym, making "Heart's Paradise" a breath-taking reality. But being a junior is far more than being "slightly different." It's the essence of college life—it's "paradisical."

BEN LEWIS . . . . . story-telling president . . .
was dubbed "massacre of ceremonies" on exchange program to U. of U. and A. C. . . . already holds a job in one of Provo's prominent banks . . . directed Y Eagles and class activities with a rare system of planning . . .

Junior Officers

FLORENCE STEVENS . . . . .
slender, starry-eyed vice-president . . . posed as the Indian maid, Utahna . . . made male hearts skip numberless beats, but futilely—she seems to have made an alliance . . . has Sterling calibre, but we wonder if she'll go Strate . . .

LYDA WHICKER . . . . . charming, charming brunette . . . kept track of weighty Junior transactions . . . was Snow Queen candidate . . . added Boyer to her list of luminary-admirers . .

We

swelled the Loan Fund for the

SOPHOMORES

Full-fledged sons of Brigham at last! To say we enjoyed being really grown up puts it mildly. Of course Frosh initiations this year were hardly impressive enough—for the Frosh—but after all they're only Freshmen, so we didn't expect too much. And our boating and dancing and swimming parties have been the best excuses for not studying that we've found all year. Not to infer that we don't enjoy concentration, but what's the use when there's fun to be had? After all, this is college!

MONROE PAXMAN . . . . . supervisor significant second chapter in the life of the class of '41 . . . energetically con-to the inimitable spirit that was characof the Sophomore class, injecting a up-and-coming dignity . . .

Soph Officers

SARAH MABEY . . . . charming Sophomore vice-president . . . assisted Monroe in her quiet, unassuming manner . . . possesses a sweet disposition and lovable personality . . . claims as her watchword: "And I don't mean Mabey" . . .

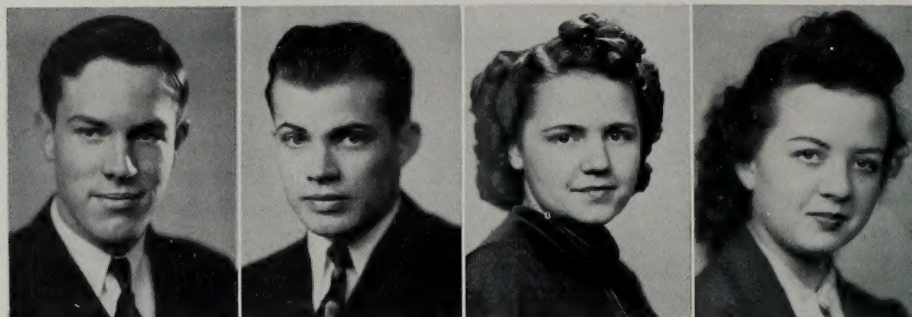

MARY DEANE PETERSON . . . a vivacious personality . . . kept the books of the class and deposited its wealth in the bank . . . is, according to the student prexy, blonde, blue-eyed, and pretty . . .

FRESHMEN

..... So you don't think you should be labeled green? Don't you remember pointing at Prexy Drew's picture with: "There's the job I'll have in four years!" Of your consternation when Miss Black said it was impossible to take a B. S. and M. S. in four years, so you could take that "inevitable" scholarship to Germany? Or when you rebelled during Frosh Week because you "just knew" that no frosh class had ever been treated so terribly? ..... But we've all been green, so the feeling is familiar to all Y'sers. And though it might have seemed terrible; a year—or even a summer—of softening make those memories the first, and surely the dearest, of your college life.

GARTH SEEGMILLER . . . . . greenling leader in the swing of college life . . . successfully engineered class activities . . . stood out as a campus personality through his contagious good humor and athletic ability . . .

Fresh Officers

GLORIA TANNER . . . . . rare combination of red hair and sweet disposition . . . exhibited unusual leadership ability as frosh vice-prexy . . . enthusiastically and energetically promoted class activities . . .

PHYLLIS SMART . . . . . typical coed and efficient class secretary . . . displays an irresistible sense of humor, a lovable disposition, a sparkling, vivacious personality . . . chairmanned Banyan dance during fall quarter . . .

Ban of existence for the humble freshman, initiation week brings more mis-treatment than the greenlings ever thought existed. Upper-classmen lorded it over them in numberless ways and with glee gave the Frosh all sorts of assignments. For example (above) Reed Tuft supervises a private cheering section, but the smiling victims didn't seem to mind it much. Then there's the public demonstration of affection (middle) and in this instance Kay Bunnell, Max Bateman, and Reed Tuft look on while a shy coed kisses the face of a submissive Joe College who had previously been smeared with potent Limberger Cheese. And below, "Hot Dog" Weenig and "Barrymore" Bateman give an unsuspecting coed an "egg shampoo" . . .

Paddles and pals . . . parties and pulchritude . . . dates and dues . . . blackballing and bragging . . . grass cutting and formal trading . . . all these and more your organization did you for. Prexy Harris's Monday announcement, "Today is the day for club meetin-n-g-g-s", dispersed of the various tribes to the other side of locked doors, to plan for the good of the unit. And a unit important? Holy Cow! It's the only thing. It either makes or breaks; and the treasurer always goes bugs, while character sketches presented in blackball sessions are priceless, worth at least two hours of anybody's psych credit. And to see the Tausigs rate scholarship honors, only to have the Brickers scoop them in basketball—it's the next thing to inspiration!

HONORARIES

Life-time ambition of underclassmen, bids to the honoraries are given after consideration of student service and qualification. Here class, rank, and distinction are supposed to come to a bitter end in brotherhood and fraternity. Scholarship and activity are the requirements in most of these organizations—so look out for your C's and D's you aspiring lower classmen! Considered the campus cream of the crop—"Tops" in college life—the honoraries hold enviable positions in the eyes of classmates. Service, fraternity, sociability, feature the careers of this group of organizations.

Much of the credit for the organization of Lambda Delta Sigma on the campus goes to versatile Dean Wesley P. Lloyd who has probably more varied interests than any other campus brightlight. Alongside in the stimulation of L. D. S. growth were sponsors Ariel S. Ballif, A. Smith Pond, and returned missionary Ileen Ann Waspe. Indications prove that the religious organization is a permanent addition to the campus.

Jack Davies succeeded Dave Walker as president of Omega Nu, honorary journalism fraternity, near the middle of the fall quarter; with Jack at the helm, Omega Nu definitely became active this year. Afton Clegg, vice-president, and Virginia Packrell, secretary-treasurer, have been efficient assistants in directing activities. Publication of the "Wye", campus magazine, was the principal project of the year, proving to be of genuine worth to the university. A highlight of the year was the luncheon at Keeleys with Miss Phyllis Bentley, noted English novelist, as guest of honor.

Writers and journalists banded together to contribute to the "mag" with the hope that by quality composition its permanency would be assured.

Took the new girls in hand and supervised their orientation at the Y. The Mentors are the big sisters who each take about twenty new girls and sponsor novel and interesting parties during the school year. Also one of the important functions of the Big Sisters is to acquaint the new girls with the traditions of the university. Mentors are presided over by A.W.S. officers Connie Kelly, Dorothy McGuire, Maxine Turner, and Lyle Evens.

SOCIAL UNITS

Remember those bull sessions, cow conferences, and blackballs? They characterized unit meetings. And yet in spite of all the disappointments, socials, pals, and get-togethers made it a glorious year for unit members. Recall the nights you painfully wriggled into formal attire to accompany the "one and only" to the year's best party? And you possibly wondered how you found high school any fun at all without these superb parties! Competition in pledges, intra-murals, and invitationals spiced your college life and made it what you had expected when you reluctantly kissed Mom and Dad goodbye at the railroad station that memorable Fall day.

Val Hyrics sponsored a Hallowe'en party and a Christmas party at the Fireman's hall in Spanish Fork during the fall quarter. In the winter their social highlight was the Invitational at the Memorial Hall in Springville. With the Spring and spring fever came the annual formal dinner-dance; and as the conclusion to the social season, Val Hyrics enjoyed a canyon party.

C L U B S

"Birds of a feather" applies to college students as well as to the winged species. Whether from Podunk Center or Anycity, U. S. A., it was much more fun to gang together and have times that you could write home about than to do a "solo". From good old fashioned "hoe-downs" and "shin-digs" to dignified semi-formals, these energetic clubs had interesting times in novel socials. The cliquish bands of campus rovers met frequently and blaze notices of club meetings appearing on campus bulletin boards still remain on the plastic minds of fellow students. From geographical to psychological, these clubs furnished an important link in the social chain of a great social university. Medium of expression to hundreds of students, they filled a crying need at the lovable "Y".

What would college be if the dust from the textbooks wasn't counteracted by the spice and zest and enthusiasm of the Y's most dearly cherished tradition—that contagious and irresistible spirit that makes it the friendly school? In '38 - '39 the Spirit of the Y exuded in big gobs from the memorable activities of campus life . . . the harvest moon seemed to be dripping with college spirit, as if it had just been dipped in it . . . traditional Y spirit spiraled upward from crooning saxaphones at dreamy formals . . . it waved in the pompoms at the football games . . . it laughed at the fantastic bull session tales . . . it glowed from the traditional rush week handshake and back slap . . . it echoed in the applause for assemblies and lyceums . . . it rang with the buzzer and moved with the score board numerals at basketball games . . . it was smelled along with the pungent odors of green grass and new leaves . . . it danced in the orange flames of the burning Y at graduation. Innumerable hours spent away from books and concentration, hours of talking and dating and thrilling, were not only glorious—they were college life itself.

Between cram session and 'xam session Joe and Josie College shed their more studious selves, come out of their quarterly scholastic hibernation and make things vibrate to the pulsation of riotous fun. "Mat" dances and parties, popularity and publications, moonlight hikes and daylight hopes—they never end, and were they happy? With an ear-to-ear smile all were happy, and how! Prom! Magical dream word — this year it signified "Heart's Paradise". Converting the drab gym into a veritable paradise of hearts, this year the committee broke records with the most elaborate lighting and decorating arrangement displayed at the "Y" in many a moon. Above, chairman Martell Bird points with paternal pride at the long-looked-for day, while below Dot Dixon and Reed Tuft register the obvious rapture of all Prom-goers. Finally, here is the entire group of workers: left to right (back row) Lingley, Brooks, Bird, Weenig, Tuft and (front row) Brown, Dixon, Speros, and Glines.

Photographer Thom Barrett finally has the tables turned on him. With him are Ruth Taylor, Fae Clark, and committeeman John Weenig. They are standing before the giant "Timpanogos Heart" created in the center of the gym. Middle; assistant Oliver Smith hears a new one while dancing in the "Heart's Paradise" surroundings—or is that angelic expression of rapture? And below, Prexy Leonard receives the first ticket to the 1939 shin-dig from Marty Bird, Marj Glines, and Pete Speros. Ironically enough, the prexy played for the affair with Stan Schmutz Top Hatters.

Business manager Dale DeGraff has not only brought advertising volume up, but supervised contests and promotion ideas for sales. But most unusual of all, he was an important cog in the literary wheel which turned out the copy for the Banyan.

Hours and hours of labor are required and foremost among the mounters were Malin Francis, Katherine Christensen, Elizabeth Hill, and Mildred Parry. Another group of unheralded workers, the Y News staff meets deadlines and grinds out stories at the expense of classes and the good disposition of profs. Mainstays on the editorial staff have been Marvin Smith, Dale DeGraft, Reed Tuft, Bri Jacobs, Glen Snarr, and Kay Pace. ...Concerts and Lectures

Highlights of a rich lyceum season which brought the world's greatest talent to Provo, Sergei Rachmaninoff is properly described as "A Living Immortal". Spellbound under the touch of the master, an overflowing Tabernacle crowd had its dream fulfilled. The Pasquier Trio, brothers in strings, gave a stand-out performance.

Regarded next to Rachmaninoff in quality as a lyceum attraction, Martha Graham and her world-famous dancers filled College Hall at extra prices. In interpretive dancing, Miss Graham holds prominence over the world as a top-ranking star and troupe. Gregor Piatigorsky, eminent Russian cellist was outstanding among fellow artists.

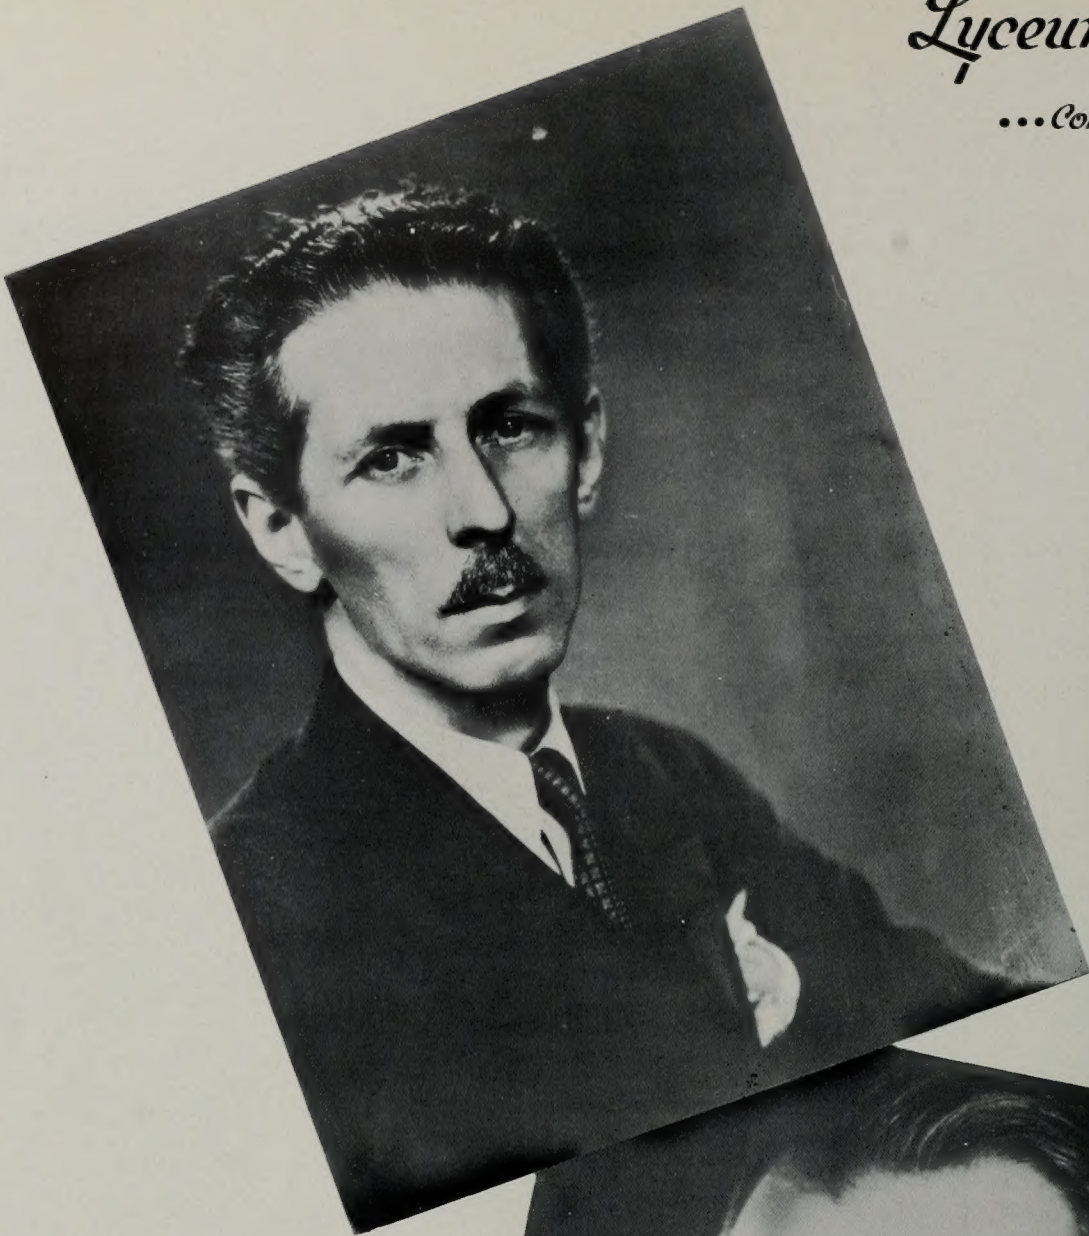

Distinguished American novelist, Theodore Dreiser gave an address interesting primarily to literature students. Editor and dramatic critic, Burns mantle praised drama at the B. Y. U. in a column of the New York Tribune after he lectured an audience at the Tabernacle. Wonder to all who heard him play, Andre Marchal gave a demonstration of the power of instinct in an organ recital. Marchal is blind. British Novelist Phyllis Bentley lunched with Omega Nu before her lecture. James M. Hepbron, criminologist, interested his audiences with diagnoses of the present crime situation.

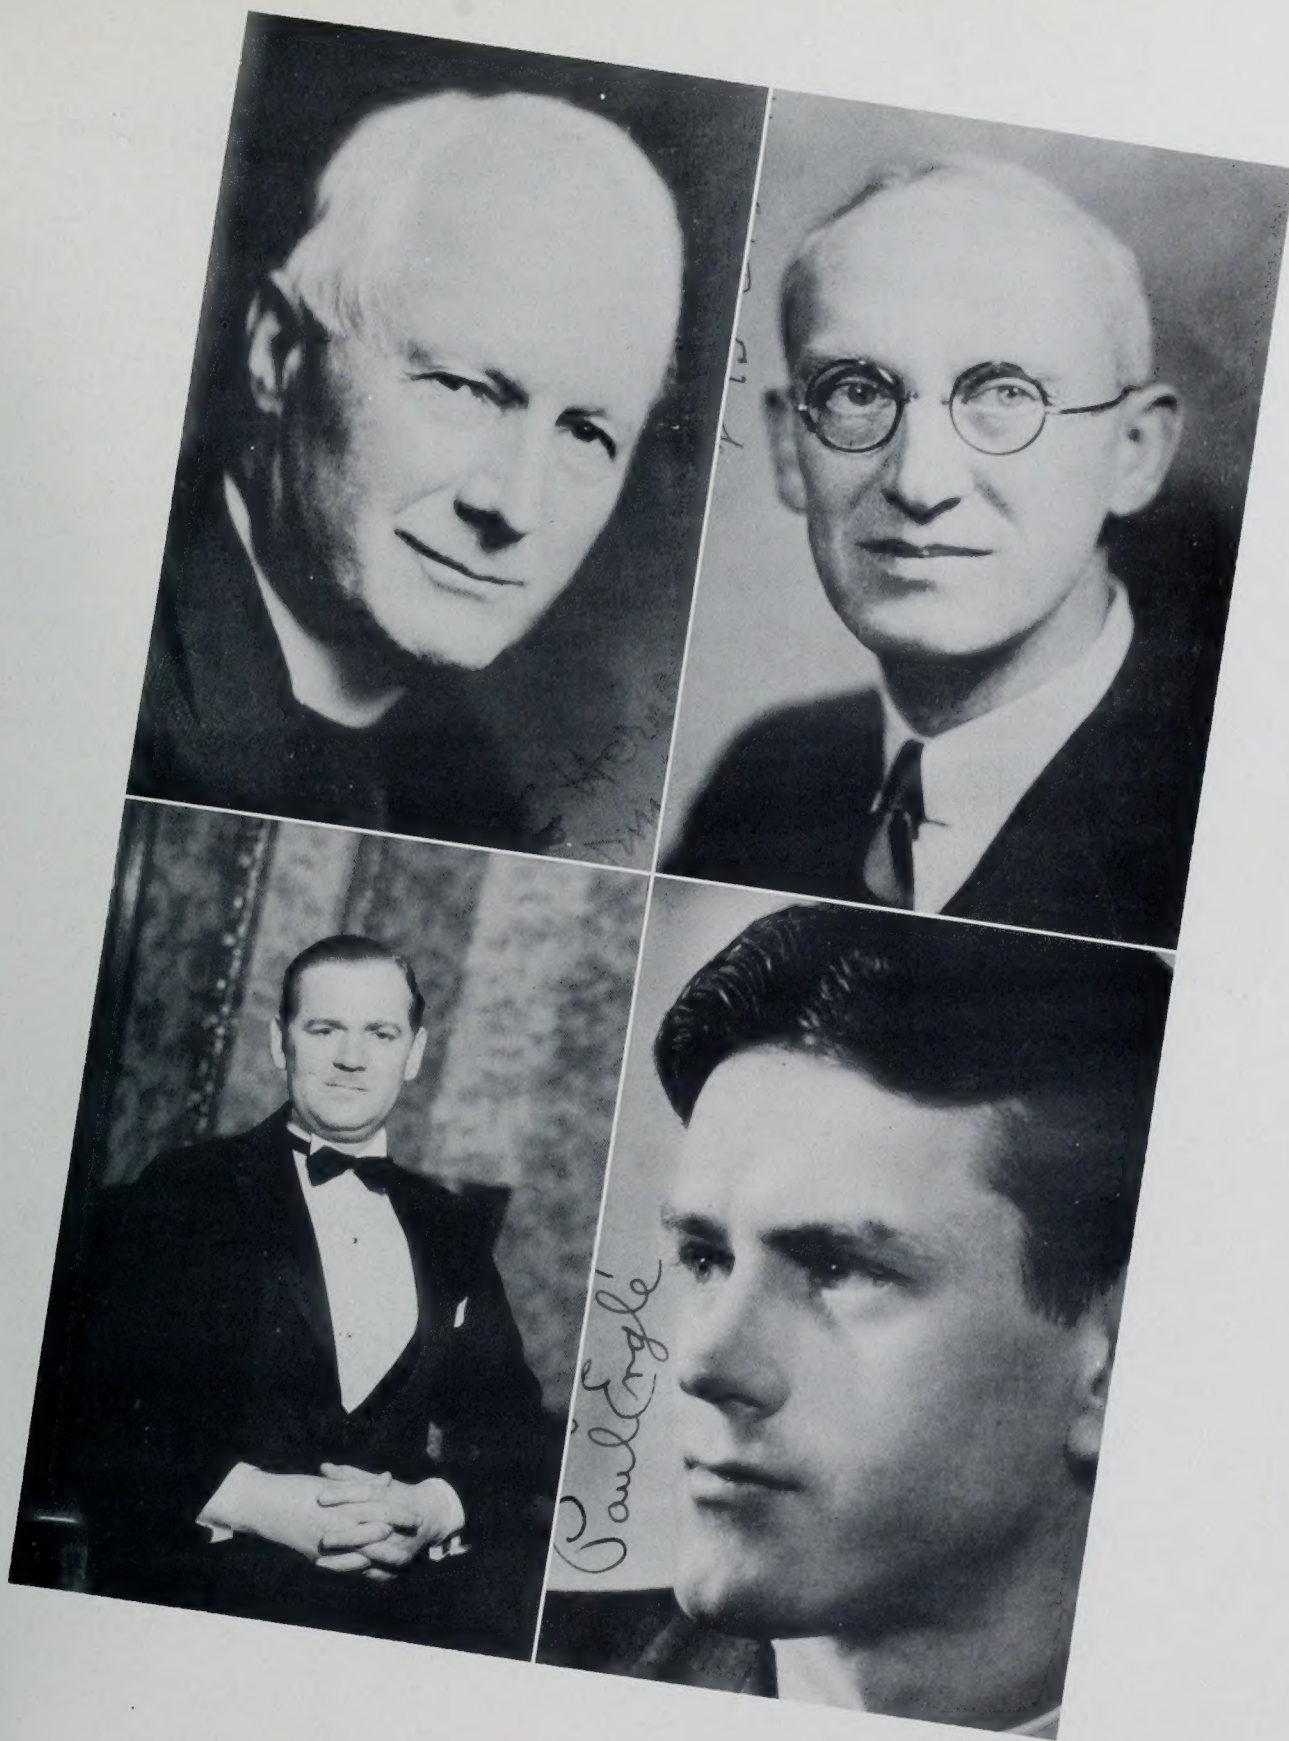

Student of the great Debussy, pianist Robert Schmitz and the B. Y. U. symphony orchestra gave an entire program of music of the masters. With his unusual interpretation of the works of Debussy, Schmitz thrilled a capacity Tabernacle audience. With rich, baritone voice, Alexander Kisselburg sang a concert which lingers yet in the minds of music-lovers of the city and school.

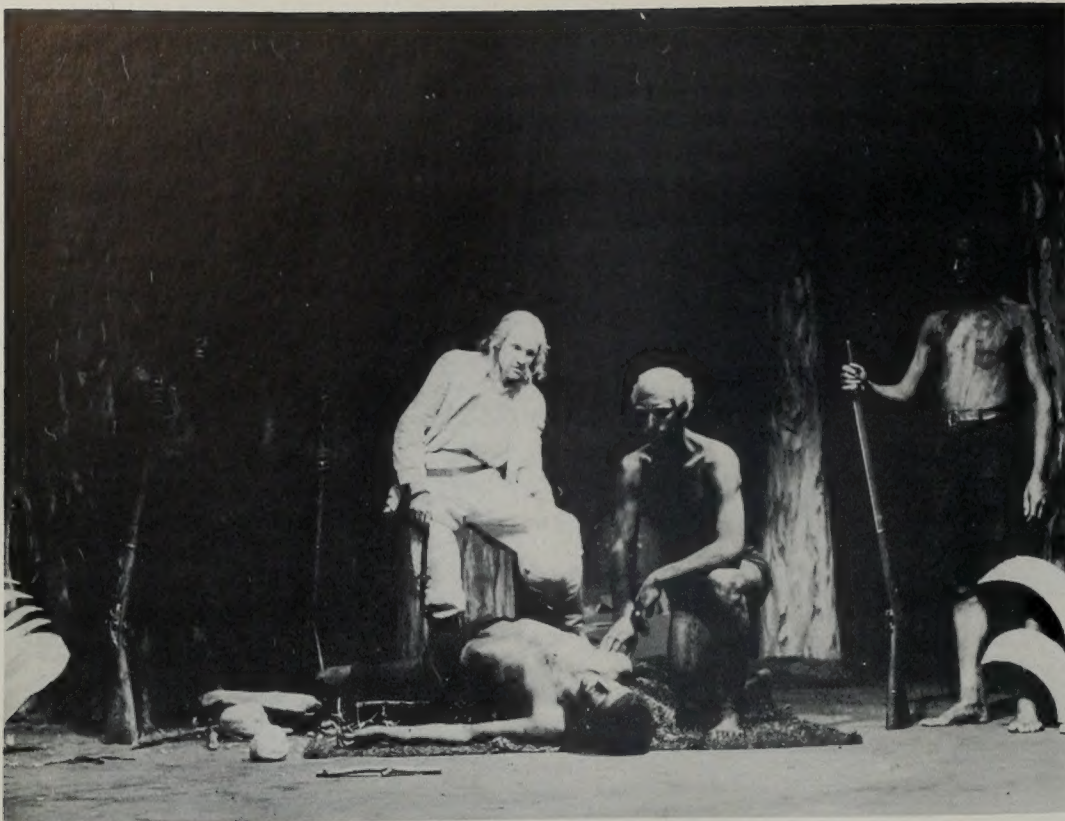

Abbe Ernest Dimnet, French philosopher and author of "The Art of Thinking" was one of the popular speakers of the lyceum course. Speaking on the international situation, he gave a new slant to international relations. Sheldon Cheney, upper right, was refreshing as an advocate of modern art and impressionism. Lower left, Carl Mose gave one of the most interesting programs of the season. And lower right, Paul Engle, brilliant young American poet read poetry.

"Lady Precious Stream"

ABOVE: Unusual, charming, naive,, and beautifully staged, "Lady Precious Stream" was delightful. Written by S. L. Hsiung, it put into English a literal translation of one of China's most traditional dramatic situations. Staged in accurate Oriental fashion, it featured such Chinese customs as allowing black-clad stage hands to mingle with the actors.

Acclaimed the hit of the Young U dramatic season, the Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman Pulitzer Prize play (made into one of the year's top-flight motion pictures) packed College Hall for its local three-night run, with the Provo fire ladders on spectator-duty.

Opera

Bringing to Young U the lilting music of Sigmund Romberg and the lyrics of Dorothy Donnelly, the combined music and dramatic departments presented the comic opera "My Maryland" on the College Hall stage Thursday and Saturday evenings, March 2, 3 and 4

With a stirring, picturesque Civil War setting, the clever plot revolved about the romance of the beautiful rebel, Barbara Frietchie (Marie Pyott—Doris Strickley), who incurred the wrath of her Confederate father (James Andrews) and associates by spurning the advances of local Jack Negley (Fay Bybee) for the love of the dashing Union Captain Trumbull (Blaine Johnson-Leland Lamereaux). The story reached its climax as Barbara's brother Arthur (La Ron Stewart) shot Trumbull, then carried him to the Frietchie home where she concealed him and nursed him back to health. Zeke Bramble (Max Mendenhall) badgered Colonel Negley (Eugene Stevens—Mark Reynolds) and supplied the boisterous comedy relief.

Opera

Musical directors of three-act "My Maryland" were Drs. Franklin Madsen and Florence Jepperson Madsen; dramatic directors were Dr. T. Earl Pardoe and Virginia Ekins. The opera instrumental ensemble, drawn from the symphony orchestra, Prof. Leroy J. Robertson director, were coached by Prof. Gustave Buggert, with Steven Junior Lundquist as concert master.

A.M.S. Revue

With the First Edition of "The Sons of Brigham", the Associated men inaugurated their annual all-male revue with original music Tuesday evening, April 11, in College Hall. Jack Davies and Kenneth Taylor directed.

ABOVE: Peter J. "Samantha" Speros gets coy with engineer Loraine Adams in a one-act burlesque, "Tobacco Alley." The somnolent mountain gentlemen are Julius Bertrand and Howard Ballard.

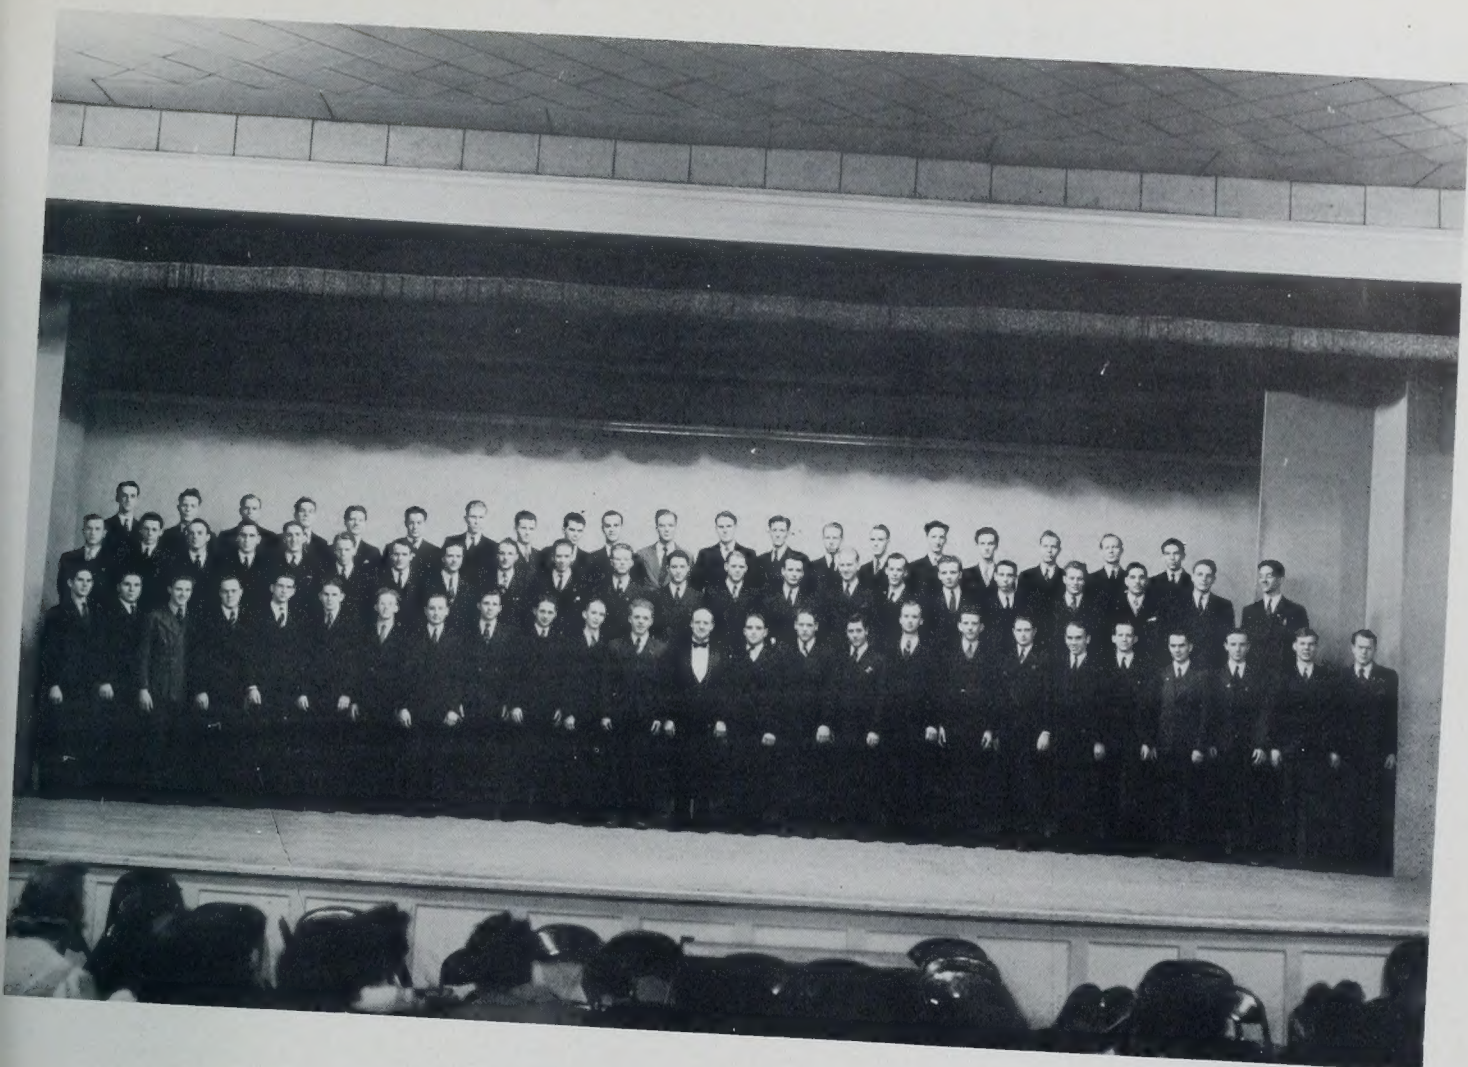

RIGHT: As the climax of the satire, "The State of the Hereafter", Vernon D. Wilcox—a very deceased Soul—tears his hair and screams, "I want to go to Hell!", obviously to the surprise of Jack Davies who—as a Presence for some millions of years— knows that that's where he is.

BELOW: "Through these portals pass the most beautiful girls in the world." This bevy of manly babes, led by Burton Todd, added hilarity to successful "Sons of Brigham."

Men's Chorus

Leadership of the Brigham Young University Male Glee, directed by Dr. Franklin Madsen, was invested this year in an administrative council, composed of Blaine Johnson, Max Mendenhall, George Whitaker, Ben Taylor, Keith Merrill, Eric Viklund, and Ladd Cropper.

Besides participating in numerous concerts with the ladies' glee and as part of the concert chorus, the male glee furnished a group of singers, directed by Blaine Johnson, that introduced the Associated Men Students song, "Sons of Brigham", in the A. M. S. all-male stage revue of the same name.

Women's Chorus

President of the Brigham Young University Ladies' Glee during the past year has been Marie Pyott, Salt Lake City, with Thelma Farnsworth, Beaver, as secretary.

Directing the group was Dr. Florence Jepperson Madsen.

The personnel follows: Front row: Dr. Florence Jepperson Madsen, director, Edythe Merrill, Elizabeth Ramsbotham, Lillian Shirtz, Nora Davis, Beth Lillywhite, Ione Averett, Wilma Thornock, Hilma Henry, Marie Pyott, Thelma Farnsworth, Barbara Lessing, Mary Brandley, Mary Tomsik, Merle Biffle, Elaine Kirk, Lapriel Anderson, Mern Laycock, Vera Jones, Elodia Ashworth, Anna Wood, Ilene Larson, Lucille Bowers, LaVern Moyes.

Mixed Chorus

The B. Y. U. Concert Chorus, directed by Dr. Franklin Madsen and headed by the combined officers of the male and ladies' glee clubs, capped a year of continuous activity with a nine-day concert tour of Southern Utah and Nevada. Local concerts were presented in College Hall and in the First, Fifth and Sixth Wards. The organization participated in the coast-to-coast Easter morning broadcast from Young U and formed the basis of the "My Maryland" opera chorus.

The full mixed chorus, combining all vocal students, presented more than 100 numbers during their year's series of semi-weekly devotional songs, and performed Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah", with symphony and organ accompaniment, in the Provo tabernacle in early December.

Orchestra

The inspiring symphonic music of the world's master composers was offered this year by the Brigham Young University Symphony Orchestra to school and community music lovers and to nation-wide radio audiences.

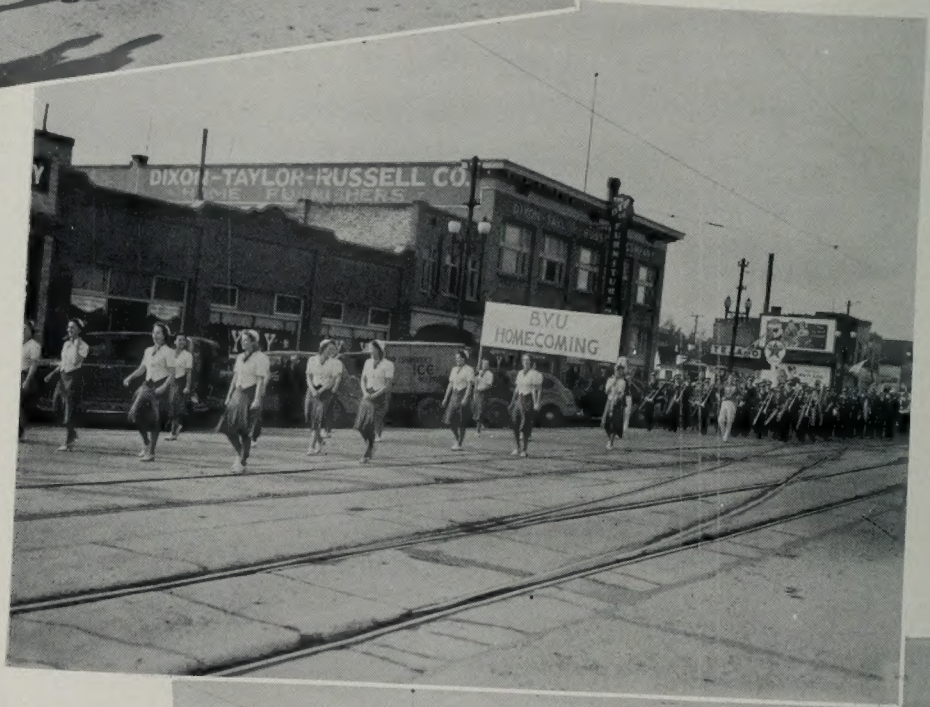

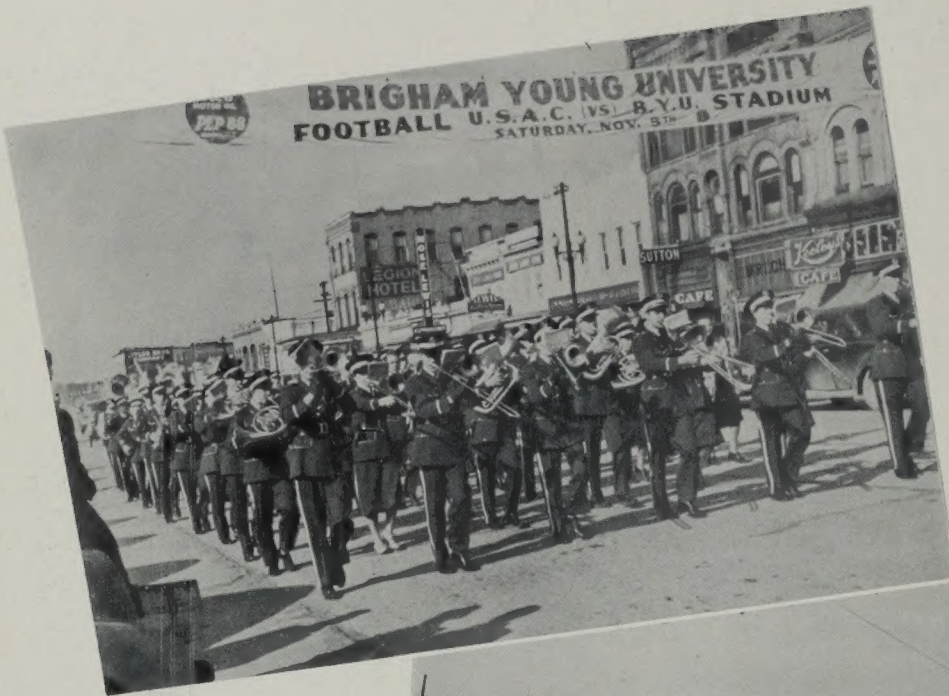

Conducted by Prof. Leroy J. Robertson, with Gustav Buggert as coach of cellos and basses, the orchestra increased its reputation as a fine arts organization. Climaxes of its year were the two coast-to-coast broadcasts.

The final event of the season was their concert appearance in the Provo tabernacle with E. Robert Schmitz, pianist.

The orchestra personnel was composed of: violins: Stephen Junior Lundquist, concertmeister, Dearwyn Sardoni, Harold Laycock, Katherine Morrell, Sybil Matthews, Barbara Tietjen, Neva Strate, June Barton, Briant Jacobs, Maurine Van Cott, Janell Warner, Thelma Holland, George Reimschissel, Phyllis Smart, Maxine Taylor, Margaret Milligan, Shirley Gardner, Norma Williams, Quentin Nordgren, Arville Pierce, LaVar Bateman, Merle Robertson, Arvid Dodge, Ruth Anderson, Beth White, Evelyn Gledhill, Hugh Laycock; violas: Max Larsen, Shirl Cook, Betha Storrs, Calvin Boswell, Virginia Nicholes, Ione Averett, Edith Done, Robert Eastland; cellos: Prof. Gustav Buggert, Carma Ballif, Bernell Tietjen, Ione Jensen, Carol Condie, Mildred Anderson, Carol Munk, Betty Stapley, Winona Monson, Fay Taylor, Olive Nielsen; basses: Al Cluff, Evan Beckstrand, Boyd Lake, Leon Castleton, Ralph Laycock, Robert Pool, Sam Wilestead, Jim Simmons; flutes: Juna Christensen, Norman Whitney, Dale DeGraff, Lola Jensen; piccolo: Dale DeGraff, oboes: Werner Sricksen, Dorothy Jorgensen, Virl Harrison; English horn: Virl Harrison; clarinets: Evan Aiken, Max Dalby, Delbert Oswald; bassoons: Howard Bleak, George Timpson; horns: Jack Harrison, Betty Miller, Reece Olsen, Barbara Ellsworth; trumpets: Dean Steineckert, Virgil Stucki, Clark Hall; trombones: Glade Jorgensen, Gerald Erickson, Scott Benson, Newell Weight; tuba: Briant Jacobs; timpani: Homer Wakefield; percussion: Paul Peterson, Kenneth Joseph, Don Hemingway; harp: Lyda White Boothby; piano: Dr. Gerrit de Jong; organ: J. J. Keeler.

Across the page, Scott Allen tries the slalom and from the look on his face, he's doing all right. Three maids combined talents and originality to win the snow-modeling contest with this representation of Martha Washington. And fancy seeing Prexy Leonard before the sound truck microphone! Any way, he caused considerable comment with that cap. Just to prove that all is fair in war and snow carnivals, these coeds gang up on another Joe College to take advantage of their numbers. ## MEN'S SPORTS

Endless thrills result when teams or individuals match athletic prowess. Whether it be eleven stalwarts who line up as a squad to do battle in the crisp Autumn air, or one who climbs into the squared ring in a stuffy gymnasium, we are proud of these men who give their best to represent us. We glory at their triumphs, sorrow at their defeats, at all times are behind them. These men who so willingly sacrifice their time and strength for B.Y.U. are fellow students and classmates and, above all, true sports.

It is they who enliven the school and give us the spirit of conflict that is a temporary relief from academic life; it is they who bring prestige to Young by sportsmanship both on and off the field.

To these men, and to those who participate in intramural activity for the sheer love of sport, we dedicate this section.

None too much can be said about this circle of tutors. It isn't "hi-ho Silver", but Floyd Millett setting off sprinters at the Invitational Meet. Across, C. J. Hart supervised the most successful relay carnival in history. Records fell and commendations were voluminous for the famous track meet. And "Buck" Dixon's boys encountered little trouble over the state in taking most corners. Then there's "Rod" Kimball, keeper-upper of equipment, grounds, etc.

Dark, handsome, and powerfully built, Ken Softe was one of most popular Cougar football men, with both students and team-mates. His much publicized "educated left toe" gained him a reputation, even outside the Big Seven, for his distance punting and uncanny place kicking. His field goals and points after touchdown boosted him among the leading conference scorers. The "Salt Lake Tribune" awarded him the quarterback spot on its All-Conference team.

EXTREME LEFT: Coaches Kimball and Millet and some of the boys—Jensen, Jensen and Searle, nearest—intently observe action from the bench.

LEFT: Latter-day Saint Church President Heber J. Grant, L. D. S. Apostle Richard R. Lyman, Utah Governor Henry H. Blood, and Brigham Young University President Franklin S. Harris appreciate their overcoats as they watch the Homecoming game with the U. S. A. C. In a heartbreaking game of penalties and replays, B. Y. U. scored two touchdowns but lost, 3 - 0.

Between the halves the White Key, honorary service sorority, and the University band presented novel marching formations. A live cougar on the field recalled Cleon and Tarbo, the original "Y" mascots.

Jack Christensen, an elusive pigskin totter in the autumn, changes with the seasons to become a stellar casaba artist, this year earning his third basketball letter. Fred Wiemer, Santa Ana, Calif., soph, picked himself up quite a scoring reputation. Lloyd Brink, compact ball-rustler, starred for the Sophomores also, performing on the gridiron as well as the hardwood court.

Basketball

Ralph Crowton
Forward

Glen Allen
Forward

Vir Richins
Guard

Sensational Ralph Crowton, uncanny marksman and passer, returned to the "Y" this year as a Junior after a year with Ecker Studio, to become the Cougar's wax-wood star. With ball-handling much improved over even his earlier work as a frosh and soph phenom, he was one of the Big Seven's highest scorers and made every All-Conference selection. Glen Allen, forward and center, former Provo High All-State center, contributed largely to B. Y. U. victories.

RIGHT: Vir Richins, guard, divides his attention between the game and the camera as he takes the ball off the Utah bankboard. The Redskins lost.

Basketball

Charles Roberts
Guard

Les Cannon
Center

Willard Deavitt
Guard

BASKETBALL

Charley Roberts, handicapped by frequent knee injuries, saw relatively little action, but as team captain sparked the squad with his courage and spirit. A Junior, Les Cannon improved greatly during the season, becoming a Cougar mainstay. Williard Devitt, also a Junior, turned in a consistent game when not hampered by an early back injury.

Basketball

Don Overly
Guard

Denby Wade
Forward

Halden Gunnell
Forward

Sam Francis
Forward

Don Overly, Junior, is another former Provo High School star. Denby Wade came to Young University this year following a brilliant two years with Dixie Junior College, formerly being an All-State prep school forward.

RIGHT: Fred Wiemer, B. Y. U. forward and guard, lets one fly in Logan's Smart Gymnasium during the second Utah - Cougar game. Though the Brigham Young five outscored the Utah State crew by four points during the last half, they were unable to overcome a first-half lead run up by the Northern team. It was the last game of the current basketball season.

Track

Top left, Gordy Christensen takes the baton from the hand of Hank Bourne in the mile relay. The boys seem to have the technique worked up to perfection from the smooth way they perform here. At the right, Gordon Christensen skims over the bar in a high jump contest at the "Y" stadium. Ace jumper of the Cougar squad, Gordy has been good for many a point in meets and for many a thrill to fans. At left is the entire squad of Cougar tracksters. Left to right on the front row they are: Uitley, Clark, Pacheco, Ellsworth, Bourne, G. Christensen, Earl, J. Christensen, Francis, and Peters. Back row: Bland, White, Smith, Ivins, Gourley, Conder, Knaphus, Woodland, Jewkes, Taylor, Cannon, and Coach Floyd Millett.

Track

Upper left, By Woodland, distance man of the Young track team comes in to break the tape. After absence from school for a short time, came back to win some points for the Cougar track team. Upper right, They're neck and neck; they're still neck and neck! And that's the way it ended. And close was Hank Bourne to the Utah man here that there was some deliberation before it was given to Utah. From the look on his face Hank is giving it all for dear old Young here. Right; Captain Peters breaks the tape for the "Y" in one of the middle distances. Peters is one of the most consistent men the Cougars have had in a long time.

Track

They're off! And down the stretch sweep the straining speedsters! And when they get to the tape, lo and behold George Cheever is barely nosed out by a Utah State man. (Upper left) But it's a different story when Cy Ellsworth meets the much touted Lee Cardon, ace sprinter of the A. C. The upper right photo shows Cy beating Cardon to the tape by a safe margin and both were well ahead of the field of contestants. On your mark! Get Set—and if you look closely you'll see one man jumping the gun—the third from the left. But it's all in the lifetime of a track man when the Spring breezes get into the red blood of youth and the call of the cinders rings about the campus.

Track

Big guns in the athletic world, these doys. Above left, Hafen Leavitt division wrestling champion as well as versatile track star who is a point-getter for Floyd Millett's boys. He handles best the shot-put. Above right is Carl Clark, record-smashing pole vaulter in the middle of a flying leap. Some form, eh gals? And in the eyes of track judges it's good form too. Another stand-out performer in field events for the track team, Carl has had his share of honors and more. Below, the lad with the strained expression is Les Cannon, Cougar weight man. In a Spring track meet Les threw the hammer within a fraction of a foot of the Conference record. If he doesn't crack the record this Spring, it's a near cinch he will next year. Get lots of sleep boys, 'cause' Young counts heavily on you.

Wrestling

Here they are: the "bone crushers" deluxe. These are the boys who can "take it" for the alma mater and take it without a complaint. Among them they have record-holders, for LeGrande Lewis has taken the Division Championship in his weight for three consecutive years! Nice going Lewis! And this year Hafen Leavitt knocked off a division championship, to make two championship winners on Coach Neff Smart's squad. Left to Right they are: Francis, Skousen, Shiozawa, Thomas, Seeley, Maynard, Skeem, Styler, Johnson, Jeffrey, Wooley, Leavitt. Co-captain Lewis, Coach Smart, and co-captain Mortensen are kneeling in front.

Wrestling

My, my boys! Can't you get along a bit better than that? Above, LeGrande Lewis, thrice division champion is seen giving Larsen of the A. C. a few worries. Lewis' record as a wrestler is rarely equalled among college performers. Below, co-captain elect Francis seems to be on the under side of Seeley. The boys are just having a "little clean fun," but it's a strange kind of fun!

Tennis

Apparently headed for an undisputed Utah State intercollegiate title—their last crown was in 1937—Young U's racqueteers swamped Utah and the U. S. A. C. in the season's first half. Malcolm Booth, captain, and Bill Pardoe alternated in the No. 1 singles spot and teamed for some of the finest doubles play the state has seen. Charles Fletcher, Howard Ballard, Booth and Pardoe graduate this year leaving Slack or Wiemer as possible No. 1 singles player.

Tennis

In the first contest of the season, played against the U. of U. on the Utah courts, B Y. U. crushed the Redskins, 6-1, Booth dropping the No. 1 match to Giles. In the second meet, Dixon's men swept through their matches with the U. S. A. C. players at Logan without a loss, winning 7-0.

The early season line-up gave the No. 1 and No. 2 singles positions to Booth and Pardoe, with Fletcher and Slack playing at No. 3 and 4, respectively. The doubles were Booth and Pardoe at No. 1, Fletcher and Fred Wiemer at No. 2, and Slack and Paul Harmon at No. 3.

Freshman Athletics

ABOVE: In the chill of a snow-splotched stadium, the entire 1938-39 freshman football squad poses under wraps. Frosh coach Wayne Softe is at the right.

Displaying promising power and speed, the Kittens proved themselves a substantial acquisition of future Cougar warriors, providing plenty of tough scrimmage for the Blue and White varsity.

LEFT: Adding his considerable bit to the prestige of freshman athletes, frosh trackster Bus Webb breaks the tape at the end of the grueling 2½-mile cross-country run, staged between the halves of the Homecoming football game. Behind him—and minus Webb's grin of satisfaction—sprints Sophomore Byron Woodland.

Barred by new Big Seven regulations from inter-collegiate competition or tournament play under the school's name, the squad had a successful season of unofficial competition with municipal and commercial teams.

Intramural Athletics

Intramural athletics features more participants than any other single activity on the campus. Above is Don Overly, manager of the Intramural circuit of competition which provides exercises for unit and club members. Center, the men enjoy a "smokeless smoker" free-for-all while the coeds had a jamboree. Below Chamberlain and Brimhall hand it to each other.

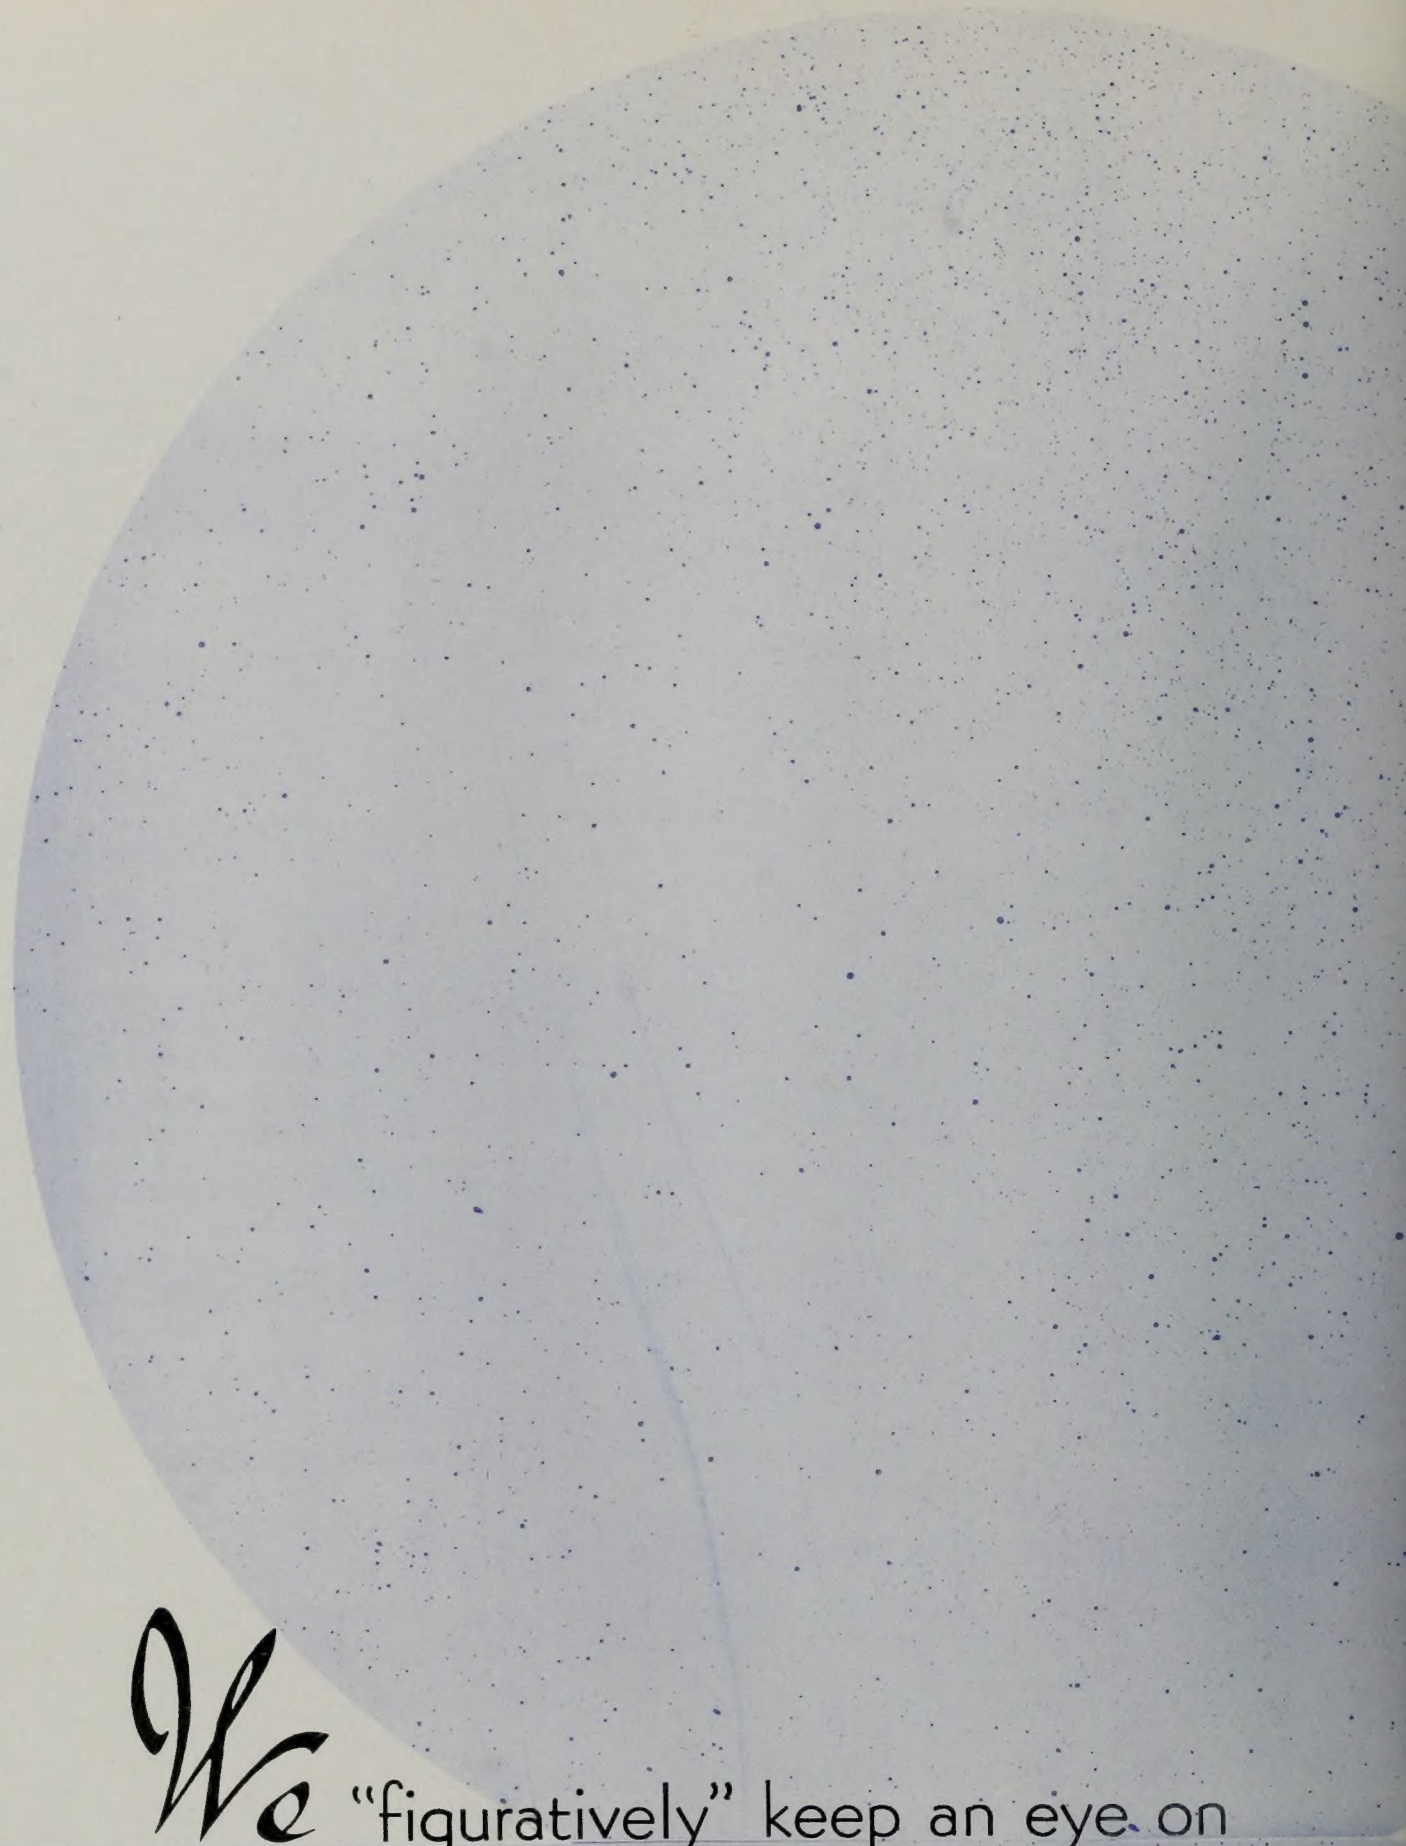

Twice already the winners of the intramural cup, the Brigadiers line up as chief contenders for this year's contest. The Brig boys have won softball, basketball, volley ball, basketball free throw and track. The champ team members are: back row l to r., F. Bird, Coltrin, Clark, Jensen, Gagen, Earl, Snow, Hess, Lewis; front row, R. Christensen, Overly, Elliott, H. Christensen, R. W. Christensen, M. Bird, Dixon, Brown, Skousen, and Conover. Middle is the A. M. S. champion basketball team composed of Manwaring, Jones, Anderson, Bateman, Christianson, and Clyde. They were winners in the Men's Association contest. Below, Prexy Drew Leonard winds up on a fast one in an intramural game.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Of course any smart coed knows full well that her ace card is the fact that she is one of the fair sex, and should behave as such, but her athletic prowess rates a close second. Under the sponsorship of the W. A. A. the ardent women sport enthusiasts of the campus improve on Grandma's long hours of baking and aching by learning the hitherto lost arts of tennis, badminton, basketball, softball. To say the least, developing sportsmanship by the fair sex has its points, and definitely!

Feminine brightlights, the W. A. A. and White Key hold sway here. Above, White Key Leona Holbrook of the women's phys ed department looks over the Invitational Meet with a smile of satisfaction—and she should! Then there's Miss Margaret Burton, able co-chairman with Miss Holbrook. Across the page the White Key girls line up and smile for the "Birdie"—hope they didn't get the birdie! Considerable aid to most campus functions, this group of live wires helps with everything. Below is a typical example of White Key maneuver in the Women's Gym.

Officers of the W. A. A. (Women's Athletic Association to you) the council of maids above has directed feminine athletics during the year. Reading from below up, they are: Wanda Andrus, president; Lur-lene Lewis, vice president; Mar-jorie Merrill, secretary; and Mary Pintar, reporter. To the left are W. A. A. letter-winners: l. to r., Alice Dixon, Ada Hafen, Marjorie Merrill, Jean Webb, and Ardelle Paul.

Here the W. A. A. delegates who met in convention on the "Y" campus are embarking for a trip up Provo Canyon. The W. A. A. of the school was host to delegates of several schools during the conclave.

Ready, set— And the amazons were off! It's play-time in the Rockies when the coeds get together for a little fun.

Watch it, Fae! It's coming—but the darn thing just stayed there for the cameraman. In this unusual snapshot the photographer stopped the old ball game.

Now stewdents! It seems that Miss Holbrook is expounding the mysteries of a relay baton to this group of athletic hopefuls. Typical of girl athletes, this is a class of coeds in the phys ed department.

Ready! Aim! Fire! That might not be too appropriate, but this snap of female Robin Hoods at the "Y" has already given many a male that "hunted" feeling.

Ye merrie women of ye olde Sherwood Forest didn't have anything over these gals. Archery classes teach the interested coeds how to properly string and shoot the most ancient of weapons—the bow (not becu).

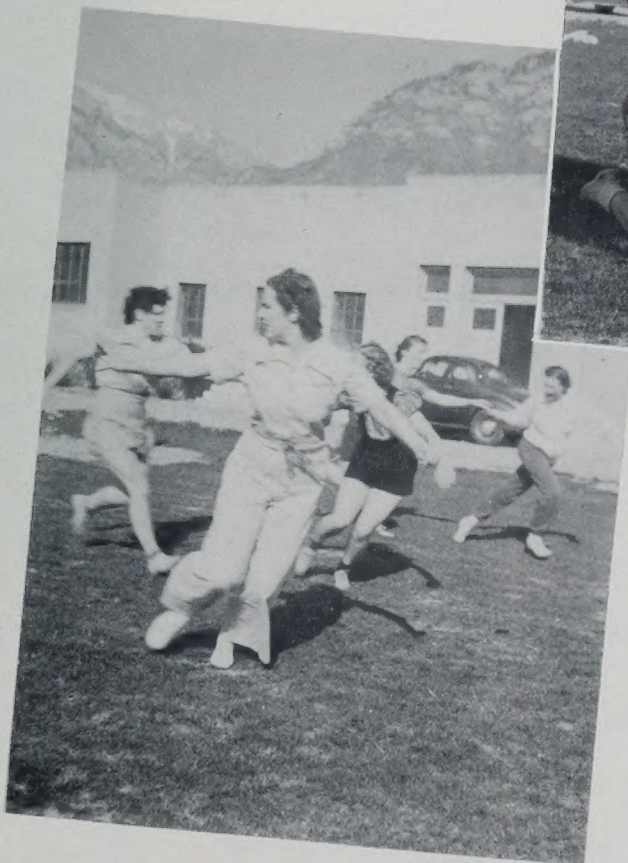

Hold it! Mirth seems to prevail in this exercise, but nevertheless it is a prototype of classes of the feminine gender learning to become strong. The purpose? Use your own imagination.

Tsk, tsk, tsk, such antics. And a few years ago the coeds would have been ostracized from society for this sort of thing. But any day nowadays you could see just such a sight.

And here are the amazons in a hotly-contested relay race. Step up and lay your bets on a winner. This too, is a common occurrence in modern college life.

ADVERTIZING

" . . . A Dollar, a Ten O'clock Scholar." Funny how close "dollarship" is to "scholarship." In fact, most of the time it's not so funny as it is tragic. For just as your books and steadies and landladies cost money, so does your yearbook cost money—far more than we as students realize. Thru their co-operation and support the advertisers make it possible for you to buy this Banyan for much less than actual cost. And even as they have given their support, we in turn owe them our support. So, in the following section, read . . . and remember.

"LITTLE WIND"

A wind came out of the South tonight,
 And laughing wind and gay;
 He gathered the leaves up with his breath
 And blew them all away.

He swept along the garden path
 And down the country lane;
 All in and out the apple trees,
 Then down the world again.

He raced across the waving fields,
 And laughed and sang with glee;
 He blew a cloud from out the sky
 And down into the sea.

A wind came up from the South tonight,
 Across the starry blue . . . .
 Oh little wind with the laughing voice,
 Take me away with you!

—Afton Clegg.

"A VAGRANT"

I should like to run in the evening
When the wind blows high and free,
And build me a house in the mountains
Under a tall pine tree.

I should like to make a huge bonfire,
And follow a wayward brook,
And listen to robins under the eaves,
And fish with a worm and hook.

But no; it is not becoming
To race by a starry sky;
I must walk, sedate and quiet,
Letting each wild day pass by.

And I must carry my books to school
And listen intelligently ...
But oh, I long for a white-sailed boat
Out on a windy sea ...

—Afton Clegg.

The End!

Those words are often unpleasant. Especially when they mean that a carefree year of college life has drawn to a swift close. Or that a book of golden memories has a finis . .

With its socials, associations, perplexities, ecstasies, studies and all, this year has seen tremendous changes in you and in the school. If this yearbook recalls—in years to come—those all-important days of an unforgettable youth, it will accomplish our fondest hope.

To those unpublicized, unheralded workers who have faithfully sacrificed free hours to the creation of this book, we extend deepest appreciation! Theirs has been a thankless task—laboriously mounting, cutting, writing, while classmates relaxed at socials or a track meet . . .

To the Stevens & Wallis Company of Salt Lake City; M. H. Graham Printing Company; and Provo Book Bindery we express gratitude for patience, cooperation, and indispensable aid.

And, until on the great highway of life our paths again cross, we wish to each of you "God-speed!"
